

History of Easter Eggs

Jesus Christ was crucified and resurrected, according to the Bible and Christian belief, and Easter is the day we celebrate his resurrection. Jesus Christ was nailed to the cross and died on Good Friday. He was resurrected three days later on Easter Sunday. Easter also traditionally signifies the end of Lent, which begins on Ash Wednesday, and is a period of atonement prior to the celebration of Easter.

Eggs are by far the most identifiable sign of Easter and also a main Easter gift. The egg is intended to symbolize new life. Since days gone by, eggs have been embellished and dyed with beautiful or bright colors. Eggs are also used in games for this special occasion.

Each Easter season we generally bring our relatives and acquaintances milk chocolate rabbits or jelly beans. It's a yearly occurrence. We all pull our chairs up to the dining table and happily consume lots of hard boiled eggs. Custom requires giving small tokens to spread the joy around. These are generally various candies made in the shape of eggs

Another good Easter gift is a big, fluffy man-made bunny. Children will want to hold the bunny when they go to sleep, while adults will also enjoy holding a soft bunny. Such a gift allows you to tell the recipient that you love them in a special way, and they you want them to have a happy Easter.

Plants can also be used in similar ways. For instance, you may want to give a spring flower in a flowerpot instead of cut flowers. Hyacinths, crocuses, tulips, and certain grasses with fake chickens may make good gifts. Plants generally improve a house's appearance by giving it a more natural look.

The Easter lily is the flower most often given as a gift for Easter. There are two main reasons that the Easter lily is such a popular gift: it has a form that looks good from any angle and it smells good. Try to choose a medium-sized lily without any bald spots or bad angles, and which is well proportioned. Many stores will be glad to provide you with high-quality flowers for Easter. Flower delivery is now easily arranged from most stores. The flowers will usually come in a box. You can add a personalized message, and give the store instructions on when and where to deliver the flowers, as well as how they are to be arranged.

Yet another ideal gift for children or adults may be doorstops, which can be in rooster design. It looks very nice, serves every home and will remind you of springtime no matter what season of the year it is. You have the option of giving decorative items as easter gifts. There is a vast selection of Easter decorations on the market. For example a cute seasonal door wreath to warmly welcome your visitors over the easter holiday. Each one is personally-crafted with fresh foliage, crisp herbs and gentile moss and decorated with easter nests they are sure to please the eye.
