

Four Precautions to be Aware of When Getting Complimentary Cell Phone Ringtones

When a telecommunications company advertises complimentary ringtones there's a reason behind it and it strictly to turn those complimentary ringtones into future sales for the company. They offer complimentary cell phone ringtones to potential customers on the hope they will become a register user and will purchase additional products from their company. Additional products could be more ringtones, wallpapers, java games, mp3 download,s and so forth. See, this is a highly competitive market to be in but for good reason. It is currently a multimillion dollar industry and it is still growing by leaps and bounds. With technology improving each and every day the growth is expected to increase and be even more prosperous. Everyone is wanting a piece of the pie. Some telecommunications companies do what they can to trigger sales. Some would be considered unethical but legal. The consumer needs to be knowledgeable on what to look for in a company when looking for complimentary ringtones. Below are 4 basic precautions to be aware of when selecting a company.

1. Make sure the company is a well known company and has been in business for a long time and it's not some fly by night business that's here today and gone tomorrow. Do research online to find out which company will meet your needs. There are tons of companies that want your business but just be very picky and follow these guidelines in choosing the right one. Shouldn't take you long at all but will be worth the research in the end.

2. Before accepting complimentary cell phone ringtones check out the fine print to see if there's any hidden cost. Some people skip this part and are shocked when the phone bill comes in with a charge they were unaware of. The information was there all along but the company intended it to be that way so they could get the sale. They wanted that person to over look it. The majority of companies do not do business this way but be aware of the ones that do

3. Remember hidden costs should not be hidden. Look for bold print that is visible stating what conditions apply when receiving the complimentary ringtones. Most of the time the company is trustworthy when this is accurately displayed making it visible to the human eye. If not this is a red flag and move on to the next choice.

4. Always check there cancellation policy. They should offer cancellation at anytime. If you can't find this check the small print to see if there is some kind of contract that is involved. It pays to check this out in the long run. This prevent will prevent you a lot of hassle and headaches. This is very important!

In conclusion, shopping for ringtones should be fun and can be fun if you apply these precautionary measures. Remember just be aware of these precautions at all times and you should not have any problems whatsoever. Getting complimentary ringtones can be a bad thing or a good thing. It all depends on being knowledgeable and knowing what to look for in advance. Life is full of decisions and it's how you go about making those decisions that will make a difference in the outcome.

About the Author

There is a reputable company you can check for free ringtones with a $9.99/month that has been around for a while. They require no Credit Card and have a huge selection and instant download. They allow you to cancel any time. Check it out here. <http://www.RingtoneCreations.com>

Source: <http://www.diyresource.com>