

Romance Needed? Travel Required

Are you looking for a romantic vacation spot to get away from the hustle and bustle of everyday life and enjoy alone time with your special someone? There are many destinations to choose from and choosing one really depends on what your idea of romance is but it's generally a picturesque location where there is plenty of peace and quiet.

Many choose to vacation in a tropical destination. Tropical holiday spots offer peace and quiet but also plenty of fun-in-the-sun activities. Imagine watching sunsets on the beach while sipping a cocktails with your partner.

Barbados is one romantic getaway that is sure to please. Its Eastern Caribbean location is a short flight for those who live on the East Coast and it's known for it's coastal vistas and beaches. Barbados offers intimacy and seclusion but also a great deal of dining, nightlife and shopping options.

Another warm weather romantic holiday spot is Tahiti, located in the Pacific Ocean. Not only is Tahiti full of beautiful beaches but it also offers a taste of culture since it is part of French Polynesia. The equatorial location ensures beautiful tropical weather year round. Many resorts cater to couples on romantic getaways and their facilities are geared towards couples looking for quiet time.

Also located in the Pacific Ocean but a little closer to home (and no passport needed) are the Hawaiian Islands. The six islands are each unique and offer something for everyone. The most secluded are Kauai (nicknamed the "Garden Isle) and the Big Island of Hawaii. If you want a combination of seclusion and nightlife then Maui offers a nice selection of resorts and entertainment options. Not only is Hawaii a tropical paradise but the people are known for their easy going attitude hence the motto "Aloha State".

Beach destinations aren't for everyone; you might not like the hot weather or the high price tag. On the East Coast the Pocono Mountains offers fresh air and plenty of places to spend time with your honey. Similarly, Big Sur in the West offers fresh saltwater air and gorgeous coastal views.

If you have the time and money you may consider a European city that is brimming with romance. The cities of Paris, Venice, Nice and Vienna are known to "have love in the air". If you are on a tighter budget consider lesser tourist trodden (but just as nice) cities of Prague, Istanbul and Tallinn.

Get away from the stress of everyday living and travel to a vacation spot where you can have quiet time with your special someone.

About the Author

Concentrating on the area of flights from alicante, Ken Morris writes most often for <http://www.alicante-spain.com> . His publications on cheap flights from alicante can be found on his site .

Source: <http://www.diyresource.com>