

Landscape Lighting - Options For Mystical Moods

Planning your landscaping is the first and most important step. You must figure out how you want the lawn to look, what plants you will have, what features you will have, and what the purpose of the area will be. You have a blank canvas to create any space you'd like.

You need to create a vision and turn that vision into your work of art.

What will the landscape look like during the day and what about when night falls?

To wake your landscape up at night - don't forget to add outdoor lighting to your landscape plans, as it can really create a great mood in your yard and create a new picture when the sun goes down. It will give you many comfortable evenings outside with your family and friends. Landscape lighting will make all of your hard landscape design work more noticeable and complete.

There are many options and a variety of ways on how to use lighting outdoors. If you want the lighting to be permanent, it can be wired to your home. Beware that will be more expensive both in installation and operation.

Instead, you can use more versatile forms such as Solar LED lights or spot lighting to put emphasis on certain areas of your garden, highlight rocks, waterfalls, pathways, ponds or create unique shadows. Solar powered lanterns make for some interesting conversation starters when gathering around the BBQ.

The wide array of landscape lighting techniques can bring a bit of romance to to the patio, yard or garden.

If you need to highlight the border of a walkway, trellis, garden, etc, you can use rope lighting. Solar powered lanterns or tikis are also common, adding a romantic mood to your area. Of course, you can combine these lighting techniques to fit your needs.

You can use landscape lighting to show the things in your garden that are the most important to you. Surely you have favorite parts. Plants, waterfalls, pathways, etc, that you may have spent a lot of time on should be shown off day and night.

Looking at these things under the addition of solar landscape lighting will make them look completely different as well. It will likely have a very mystical mood. You and your family will enjoy your artistic landscape creation.

Now you have two visions for your landscape design. One that happens during the day and the other when the landscape lights come on.
