

Sea Green Carpets- Cheap But Natural

This article says how the sea green color in carpets feels inviting, romantic and very exotic to say sea grass carpet. Well it does seem natural.

Good, easy, cheap forms of carpets are making their name in the market. These small rugs are becoming an essential part of a person's house. You are mesmerized by the natural color and feel; and always as-good-as-new look they carry. It feels inviting, romantic and very exotic to say sea grass carpet. You get pictures of underwater blue and green, a dark surrounding, clean and calm water. Well it does seem natural.

Keeping their original colors that can be gray, light silver, tan and brown in color makes the sea grass carpets. No artificial color is added to their design. These colors do not show much of the dirt, which can be on them and are good to keep on the porch, entrance, mudroom and patio. The sea grass carpets are very good for some areas because of the color that tends to camouflage. They are incredibly enduring and durable, and do bear nicely under several footing, vacuuming, beating and sweeping.

They are almost impossible to be stained because of the fibers that are inexplicable and resistant. This is why they are not dyed and are kept in their original lovely shades and tones.

The other distinguishing thing about sea grass carpet is the shine they have. There is a glow which makes us remember the childhood hours which were spent in the field, the winds which were blowing thorough the blades of the grass to show the astonishing shine.

Sea grass carpets are normally made from natural fiber, which is grown in great number on the riverbanks of China, India and numerous other countries. When asked a vendor he would tell that the main growing season would be when the sea water is flooded. The sea grass rugs do not cost much to the manufacturer and thus are cheap to the purchasers too. There have a natural look to them and are mostly adaptable on floorings and have a variety of visual appeal with different weaved patterns including the seashore weave, the basket of sea weave, the sea breeze, the seashell design and the sea bass designs.

The more the indoor contemporary area rugs and area rugs are put, like in the living room or the dining room, the more the styles tend to change. The sea grass carpet are widely stitched with a wool, tapestry, leather, rim, or cotton and have a padding or backing for long life and traction. The padding or backing is normally made of jute that remains natural, latex backing and chemical free adhesive.

As most sea grass carpets are not treated chemically with materials that are stain resistant, the covering on the floor do not feel and look natural, not fitting with a number of motifs but they usually are, naturally as close to the natural design as the area rugs tend to get. This tends to be as good as growing grasses in your garden, being under the sea either it be blue and green that is if you like it.
